School Building Contracts Awarded

Large Program Will Be Pushed This Summer

Hartman Releases Data; Completion Set For July 1956

City School's Superintendent George Hartman announced today that contracts have been awarded to give Circleville's school building program all-out momentum.

Bids were opened and contracts awarded Tuesday. Target date for completion of the big program, Hartman said, is July 1, 1956.

"The general contractor is anxious to move in and get going," he added. "Plans are for him to start work right away, so we can capitalize as much as possible on the favorable Summer weather."

Contracts were awarded at a special meeting of the city board of education.

THE SCHOOL building program, calling for new elementary structures and additions, was given the green light when voters approved a bond issue last November.

General contract was let to the Sever-Williams Company of Washington, C. H. for $421,050.

The heating and plumbing contract was let to the Geiger Brothers of Logan for $116,500.

The electric contract was let to the Ohio Electric Service Company, of Lancaster, for $36,798.

Total value of the contracts is $574,348.

The architect's fees for McLaughlin and Keil, of Lima, at the standard fee of 6 percent, will be $34,460.88.

Total construction costs, plus the architect fees, amount to $608,808.88.

THE BUILDING sites cost $105,000, thus giving a total figure of $713,808.88 in obligation to-date.

Placed against the $750,000 bond issue, Hartman explained, that figure will leave $36,191.12 for equipment, grading and some necessary remodeling.

Faint Hope Held For Siamese Twin

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Doctors at Charity Hospital hold only faint hope for the survival of a Siamese twin girl, separated from her sister in a three-hour operation.

One of the girls born to Mrs. Leance Duckworth, 20, in Gulfport, Miss., Monday died on the operating table yesterday. Dr. W. T. Newson, director of the hospital's premature infants center, said the surviving twin was doing "fairly well considering."

He said the girls were joined at the abdomen and pelvis.

Country Folk Incorporating To Curb Expansion Of City

SANTA ANA, Calif. (AP)—The countryside now is resorting to incorporation in order to remain rural.

That's how great has been the California's cities. Three spokesmen for a community of dairymen described the turned-about situation.

Their dairy farms occupy an area of about 2 1/2 square miles, in northwestern Orange County, some 23 miles from Los Angeles. Adjacent to them is the small city of Buena Park, and their fear is municipal encroachment.

The spokesmen for the dairymen are Jack Devries and Charles Vanderfeer, cochairmen of a ranchers' committee, and M. S. Bernard, their attorney. What is happening is this:

The entire area is more less suburban to Los Angeles. As Buena Park and the metropolitan area grow, new subdivisions keep creeping into dairy territory.

PEOPLE MOVE into these new houses, and in a matter of weeks they're filing complaints because the dairies smell like dairies. Then the dairies have to worry about abatement proceedings, annexations and other complications.

So, the dairymen decided that dairymen could use the same

Women's Club Ponders New Cabinet Post

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The General Federation of Women's Clubs gets down to business today and considers resolutions including one, calling for creation of a new U. S. department of consumer interest, that got a pat on the back from Adlai Stevenson.

Stevenson, in addressing the General Federation's convention last night, commended the clubwomen for their interest in "people" and noted that among their proposed resolutions was "the significant and novel idea" for the new department.

This department, which would be headed by a Cabinet secretary, would educate consumers and protect their interests.

In his speech Stevenson said the international scene was calmer and called for "a crashing effort" to control the hydrogen bomb as a way to permanent peace.

"Surely if we could afford a crash program to build the hydrogen bomb we can afford a crashing effort to control it," he said. He said the opportunity may be at hand to boldly tackle arms control again.

At a press conference prior to his speech, Stevenson said he obviously is in favor of the coming Big Four meeting.

"I'm for such conferences when there is any reasonable prospect of success."

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Civil Aeronautics Authority says accidents involving small planes averaged nine a day last year and killed 659 persons. Private autos killed about 35,000.

Final Decision On Vaccine Believed Near

Surgeon General Says Nearly All Shots Now Considered To Be Safe

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some imminent move by the federal government in regard to the polio inoculation program, now at a standstill, was hinted as being only a matter of hours away today.

A manufacturer of Salk vaccine said he expects word from the government today whether the polio inoculation program "is going ahead, is to be altered temporarily, or is going to be called off entirely."

KENNETH VALENTINE, president of Pitman-Moore Co., Zionsville, Ind., said he believes that is one purpose of a meeting of administrative representatives of vaccine-producing companies, called by the Public Health Service for this afternoon.

At the same time, Secretary of Welfare Hobby, in a statement sent to the committee, said 13-350,000 children could be vaccinated under a proposal for a $28 million federal fund to provide free vaccine for those unable to pay for it. She said the formula for dividing the money among the states would give a larger relative amount to low income states.

Meanwhile, Welfare Department officials were called to tell Congress just what happened in the long-stalled vaccination program.

The House Commerce Committee hearing follows close on the heels of an announcement last night in which U. S. Surgeon General Leonard A. Scheele vouched for the safety of all the vaccine used so far in the school children's program—with the exception of two lots made by Cutter Laboratories.

It was still unclear, however, when the vaccination campaign can get into full stride again. Clearance of new supplies has been held up while scientists and officials reviewed safety checks. Scheele did say a further announcement regarding that material "can be expected soon."

Union, Ford Negotiations In Recess

DETROIT (AP)—Negotiations between Ford Motor Co. and the CIO United Auto Workers were adjourned today while Ford reportedly made ready a "package offer" to the union.

Ford is expected to make its comprehensive counterproposal tomorrow to the union's demand for a guaranteed annual wage for the company's 140,000 workers.

UAW negotiators, headed by President Walter Reuther, agreed yesterday to a 1 1/2-day recess, presumably to give Ford representatives time to put their new offer into writing.

Both the company and the union declined to discuss the latest developments.

With the expiration date of the auto workers' five-year contract with Ford only a week away, the tempo of negotiations gradually is gaining momentum.

The union announced last night that 96.6 percent of the workers in 43 locals have voted in favor of a strike, if necessary to gain contract demands. Seven locals still are unreported.

General Motors held its first daylong meeting with the UAW yesterday and company and union representatives will meet again today. The GM contract, covering 325,000 production workers, expires June 7, a week later than the Ford pact.

Senator Shocked By Lies Told Probers By Witnesses

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Mundt (R-SD) said today a "mystifying fabric of falsehoods" is clouding the record of a Senate search for graft in buying of uniforms for the armed forces.

Noting that two witnesses before the Senate Investigations subcommittee on which he serves have admitted lying under oath, he said conflicts in the testimony of others shows some of them also "are trying to deceive us."

"This is awful," he said. "It's a terrible spectacle." He said any government worker caught trying to deceive the subcommittee "ought to be fired."

One witness was fired yesterday. The Army announced the immediate dismissal of David Pollack as a contract analyst for the Quartermaster Corps in Philadelphia—a job paying between $5,940 and $6,940 a year.

The announced reason was that Pollack's testimony "differed from testimony he gave in a previous closed session" of the subcommittee. Pollack had conceded that, but he disputed testimony from another witness that he had taken money from a private firm dealing with the Army.

The other witness who admitted lying under oath was Joseph G. Porreca of Clifton, N. J., a former chief inspector for the Army. He denied but later admitted receiving gifts from a man associated with the same firm.

The subcommittee called more witnesses today to explore more fully into testimony by a Brooklyn manufacturer, Leon M. Levy, that he provided $6,699.94 to finance payoffs to uniformed and civilian Army personnel with whom he was doing business on government contracts in 1952 and 1953.

Levy, a native of Lebanon, consulted a diary in Arabic script in which he said he kept a record of such disbursements from his firm, Bonita Originals, Inc., of New York.

The subcommittee seeks to establish whether any or all of that sum reached the government people Levy said he expected would get it from Marvin Rubin, whom he had hired to get business for him.

Pollack swore he never received $500 of Bonita funds which Levy had just testified he believed Pollack accepted from Rubin at Bonita's plant. Levy said the man who got it was introduced by Rubin as Pollack and looked like him.

Pollack said that as an Army employee in New York, he had determined that Bonita was the low bidder for contracts to produce 1,050,000 Army garrison caps at its Puerto Rico plant.

Betty Boardman Changes Jobs In Courthouse

Miss Betty Boardman, of Circleville Route 3, who suddenly resigned as chief deputy in the Pickaway County clerk of courts office, today joined the new staff being organized by County Auditor Verna O'Hara.

Clerk of Courts Jim Mowery said he was totally unaware of Miss Boardman's plans to resign until she handed him a letter Tuesday. "I am surprised and hurt," Mowery said. "Her resignation came without warning. She was so efficient I couldn't believe it when she handed me her resignation."

"I have always been very pleased with her work," Mowery said he had no immediate choice to replace Miss Boardman, who had worked in the clerk of courts office since 1947.

MISS BOARDMAN began work in the county auditor's office Wednesday morning as deputy auditor. Mrs. O'Hara, who succeeded the late Fred L. Tipton in the auditor's job, had earlier named Mrs. Robert Kibler as her chief deputy.

In addition to Mrs. Kibler and Miss Boardman, it was announced that Mrs. Margaret Steele of N. Pickaway St. has also been added to the auditor's staff as a deputy.

British Campaign Nearing Its End

LONDON (AP)—The subdued election campaign between Prime Minister Eden's Conservatives and former Prime Minister Attlee's Laborites drew peacefully toward its culmination at the polls Thursday.

The voters will elect a new House of Commons. The party winning the most seats will name Britain's new government, headed by either Eden or Attlee.

Rarely has Britain seen an election campaign so short on sensation. Herbert Morrison, deputy Laborite chief who heads the party machinery, said the hustings have been so quiet that "it has baffled politicians."

Several residents had narrow escapes. They raced for a hilltop and reached it safely just as the torrent surged past.

Sheriff J. R. Gibson of Lumpkin County, who headed the investigation, said the earthen private dam "simply broke." He said water pressure could have caused the 50-foot wide break.

The dam, built 18 months ago for irrigation and recreational purposes, was owned by J. J. Ravan, who operates a store and tourist court. Four units of the tourist court were damaged.

Important Meeting On Traffic Safety Set For Thursday

An open meeting—with the public cordially invited to attend—will be held Thursday at 8 p. m. in the Pickaway County Court House to reorganize the county's traffic safety committee.

Main speaker of the evening will be U. C. Felty, state highway safety director. Also during the meeting, officers will be elected and a constitution will be adopted.

Various business and civic groups have been contacted in advance. Although more than 100 requests were sent out, less than 20 replies have been received.

A special youth committee will be included in the county program. Therefore, all the youth of the county are urged to attend the meeting.

Only one civic group, the Circleville Rotary Club, has publicly endorsed the project. A number of business firms have put their stamp of approval on the meeting.

The traffic safety committee will review the entire traffic situation in Pickaway County. This area, at the present rate, is headed for an alarming increase in traffic deaths and accidents.

The upcoming Memorial Day weekend—Saturday, Sunday and Monday—may prove some traffic problems in the county need serious consideration.

Georgia Dam Breaks, Flash Flood Created

DAHLONEGA, Ga. (AP)—Officials resumed their investigation today to learn what caused a dam to break and pour a devastating flood on a mountain valley.

The break came without warning yesterday. Witnesses said a wall of water estimated at 25 feet high roared through the little valley astride U. S. Highway 19 at the foot of the Blue Ridge Mountains near Neel's Gap in north Georgia.

No casualties were reported but two houses and two automobiles were demolished and eight buildings were damaged. At one farm, 4,900 baby chicks drowned.

Several residents had narrow escapes. They raced for a hilltop and reached it safely just as the torrent surged past.

Sheriff J. R. Gibson of Lumpkin County, who headed the investigation, said the earthen private dam "simply broke." He said water pressure could have caused the 50-foot wide break.

Carriers, Past And Present, Among Grads

Whether it happens to be graduation day for the 8th graders or the more elaborate setting of a high school commencement, The Herald's carriers—past and present—are well represented.

Carriers, Past And Present, Among Grads

Pupils rated in the top quarter of the eighth grade this year were recently listed by Circleville city schools. And the list included all of the Herald boys who are now completing their 8th grade studies. This honored group included:

Cal Ellis, Dick Moore, John Troutman, Gary Grooms, Don Hollis, and Paul Hurst.

THE nine listed with the Class of 1955 at CHS are:

Barbara Binkley, Milton Housman, Robert Lamb, James Palm, Thomas Peters, George Smalley, Joseph Smith, Chris Weldon and Robert Brown.

A fitting slogan for one and all of the above at this commencement season of the year:

"Good luck, and carry on!"

U.S. Aid Is Urged For Plow Contest

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Polk (D-Ohio) suggested today the government help finance the World Conservation Exposition and Plowing Contest to be held near Peebles, Ohio, in September 1957.

This will mark the first time this affair has been held in the United States. It is being conducted in Sweden this year.

Officials of the steering committee of the World Plowing Organization met yesterday at the Agriculture Department to discuss the U. S. effort. Polk said he thought agencies like the Agriculture and State Departments could help pay expenses of the U. S. exposition. About 20 nations are expected to attend.

Regional Office Warns Supply May Be Cut

District Red Cross Appeals For Large Turnout On June 2

Spokesmen for the Pickaway County Red Cross blood collection program passed along to the local public today a warning that a critical blood shortage looms for all of this region.

The emergency warning was coupled with an urgent appeal to all local donors who may be able to contribute when the bloodmobile visits here June 2—only about a week away. The bloodmobile will be at the Methodist Church on that day from 10 a. m. to 4:30 p. m.

"When it comes to handy memos," a Red Cross spokesman suggested, "you can't beat a mark on your calendar. We wish all possible donors would get in touch with us immediately, and that those in doubt would make a memo to remind themselves when June 2 gets closer."

"This whole region is facing a serious situation, and Pickaway County is being asked to carry its own share of the load if an emergency is to be averted."

THE bloodmobile's last visit to Circleville was on April 21. Only 56 pints of blood were collected that day, roughly only one-third of the 150-pint quota.

Anyone wishing to make an appointment to donate blood June 2 should contact either the township, or recruiting chairman, or the local Red Cross chapter. The chapter's phone number is 336.

Meanwhile, Red Cross officials revealed the Columbus regional blood center had sent an appeal as follows:

"We are now entering the Summer months when blood collections usually drop. On the basis of current collections we cannot have an additional drop in donor activity."

"In fact, unless every effort is made to increase collections, the region will be faced with a very serious blood shortage and will be forced to go on a full emergency (Continued on Page Two)

Cop, Thugs Duel; One Bandit Killed

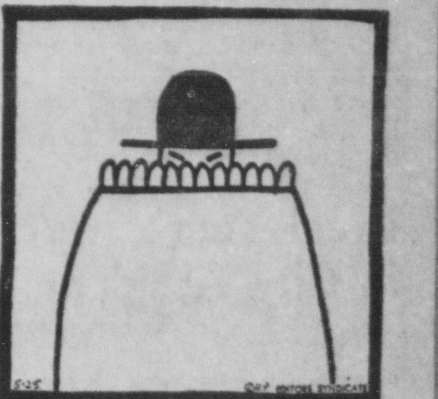

CLEVELAND (AP)—A police lieutenant walked in on a holdup here yesterday and traded shots with one of two bandits. One bandit fell dead; the lieutenant, Norman Bayless, was wounded three times in the arm.

The other bandit fled to the pitch-dark basement of the tobacco wholesale house, where other officers caught him hiding in a cardboard box.

Bayless killed Albert Bowser, 37, of Massillon, who once served a penitentiary term for robbery. His buddy was Michael Jacko, 47, also an ex-convict.

Mr. Gherkin sends for Charley when he discovers that someone is putting wart remover in his pickle vats and it's ruining his business because customers complain they can't get a good grip on a smooth pickle. The announced reason was that Pollack's testimony "differed from testimony he gave in a previous closed session" of the subcommittee. Pollack had conceded that, but he disputed testimony from another witness that he had taken money from a private firm dealing with the Army.

The other witness who admitted lying under oath was Joseph G. Porreca of Clifton, N. J., a former chief inspector for the Army. He denied but later admitted receiving gifts from a man associated with the same firm.

The subcommittee called more witnesses today to explore more fully into testimony by a Brooklyn manufacturer, Leon M. Levy, that he provided $6,699.94 to finance payoffs to uniformed and civilian Army personnel with whom he was doing business on government contracts in 1952 and 1953.

Levy, a native of Lebanon, consulted a diary in Arabic script in which he said he kept a record of such disbursements from his firm, Bonita Originals, Inc., of New York.

The subcommittee seeks to establish whether any or all of that sum reached the government people Levy said he expected would get it from Marvin Rubin, whom he had hired to get business for him.

Pollack swore he never received $500 of Bonita funds which Levy had just testified he believed Pollack accepted from Rubin at Bonita's plant. Levy said the man who got it was introduced by Rubin as Pollack and looked like him.

Pollack said that as an Army employee in New York, he had determined that Bonita was the low bidder for contracts to produce 1,050,000 Army garrison caps at its Puerto Rico plant.

Betty Boardman Changes Jobs In Courthouse

Miss Betty Boardman, of Circleville Route 3, who suddenly resigned as chief deputy in the Pickaway County clerk of courts office, today joined the new staff being organized by County Auditor Verna O'Hara.

Clerk of Courts Jim Mowery said he was totally unaware of Miss Boardman's plans to resign until she handed him a letter Tuesday. "I am surprised and hurt," Mowery said. "Her resignation came without warning. She was so efficient I couldn't believe it when she handed me her resignation."

"I have always been very pleased with her work."

Mowery said he had no immediate choice to replace Miss Boardman, who had worked in the clerk of courts office since 1947.

MISS BOARDMAN began work in the county auditor's office Wednesday morning as deputy auditor. Mrs. O'Hara, who succeeded the late Fred L. Tipton in the auditor's job, had earlier named Mrs. Robert Kibler as her chief deputy.

In addition to Mrs. Kibler and Miss Boardman, it was announced that Mrs. Margaret Steele of N. Pickaway St. has also been added to the auditor's staff as a deputy.

British Campaign Nearing Its End

LONDON (AP)—The subdued election campaign between Prime Minister Eden's Conservatives and former Prime Minister Attlee's Laborites drew peacefully toward its culmination at the polls Thursday.

The voters will elect a new House of Commons. The party winning the most seats will name Britain's new government, headed by either Eden or Attlee.

Rarely has Britain seen an election campaign so short on sensation. Herbert Morrison, deputy Laborite chief who heads the party machinery, said the hustings have been so quiet that "it has baffled politicians."

He Puts Garbage Can In Window

DETROIT (AP)—Edward A. O'Brien objected at first when Detroit's Department of Public Works Commission notified him that as a homeowner he'd have to comply with city regulations and buy a garbage can.

O'Brien explained that he's a bachelor and lives alone. He eats all his meals out. He never uses a garbage can.

But the commission held firm, so O'Brien bought a garbage can and stood it in the front window for city officials to see. "I like everyone to be happy," he said.

Important Meeting On Traffic Safety Set For Thursday

An open meeting—with the public cordially invited to attend—will be held Thursday at 8 p. m. in the Pickaway County Court House to reorganize the county's traffic safety committee.

Main speaker of the evening will be U. C. Feity, state highway safety director. Also during the meeting, officers will be elected and a constitution will be adopted.

Various business and civic groups have been contacted in advance. Although more than 100 requests were sent out, less than 20 replies have been received.

A special youth committee will be included in the county program. Therefore, all the youth of the county are urged to attend the meeting.

Only one civic group, the Circleville Rotary Club, has publicly endorsed the project. A number of business firms have put their stamp of approval on the meeting.

The traffic safety committee will review the entire traffic situation in Pickaway County. This area, at the present rate, is headed for an alarming increase in traffic deaths and accidents. The upcoming Memorial Day weekend—Saturday, Sunday and Monday—may prove some traffic problems in the county need serious consideration.

Georgia Dam Breaks, Flash Flood Created

DAHLONEGA, Ga. (AP)—Officials resumed their investigation today to learn what caused a dam to break and pour a devastating flood on a mountain valley.

The break came without warning yesterday. Witnesses said a wall of water estimated at 25 feet high roared through the little valley astride U. S. Highway 19 at the foot of the Blue Ridge Mountains near Neel's Gap in north Georgia.

No casualties were reported but two houses and two automobiles were demolished and eight buildings were damaged. At one farm, 4,900 baby chicks drowned.

Several residents had narrow escapes. They raced for a hilltop and reached it safely just as the torrent surged past.

Sheriff J. R. Gibson of Lumpkin County, who headed the investigation, said the earthen private dam "simply broke." He said water pressure could have caused the 50-foot wide break.

The dam, built 18 months ago for irrigation and recreational purposes, was owned by J. J. Ravan, who operates a store and tourist court. Four units of the tourist court were damaged.

District Red Cross Appeals For Large Turnout On June 2

Spokesmen for the Pickaway County Red Cross blood collection program passed along to the local public today a warning that a critical blood shortage looms for all of this region.

The emergency warning was coupled with an urgent appeal to all local donors who may be able to contribute when the bloodmobile visits here June 2—only about a week away. The bloodmobile will be at the Methodist Church on that day from 10 a. m. to 4:30 p. m.

"When it comes to handy memos," a Red Cross spokesman suggested, "you can't beat a mark on your calendar. We wish all possible donors would get in touch with us immediately, and that those in doubt would make a memo to remind themselves when June 2 gets closer."

"This whole region is facing a serious situation, and Pickaway County is being asked to carry its own share of the load if an emergency is to be averted."

THE bloodmobile's last visit to Circleville was on April 21. Only 56 pints of blood were collected that day, roughly only one-third of the 150-pint quota.

Anyone wishing to make an appointment to donate blood June 2 should contact either the township, or recruiting chairman, or the local Red Cross chapter. The chapter's phone number is 336.

Meanwhile, Red Cross officials revealed the Columbus regional blood center had sent an appeal as follows:

"We are now entering the summer months when blood collections usually drop. On the basis of current collections we cannot have an additional drop in donor activity."

"In fact, unless every effort is made to increase collections, the region will be faced with a very serious blood shortage and will be forced to go on a full emergency (Continued on Page Two)"

Cop, Thugs Duel; One Bandit Killed

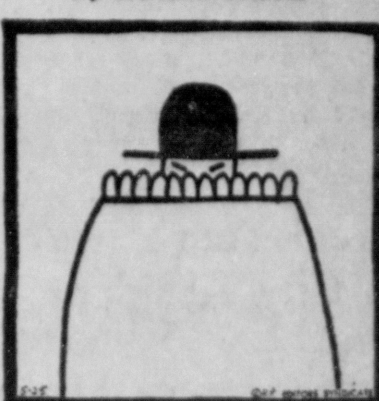

CLEVELAND (AP)—A police lieutenant walked in on a holdup here yesterday and traded shots with one of two bandits. One bandit fell dead; the lieutenant, Norman Bayless, was wounded three times in the arm.

The other bandit fled to the pitch-dark basement of the tobacco wholesale house, where other officers caught him hiding in cardboard box.

Bayless killed Albert Bowser, 37, of Massillon, who once served a penitentiary term for robbery. His buddy was Michael Jacko, 47, also an ex-convict.

"CHARLEY CHAN HIDING IN A PICKLE BARREL." This is actually a scene from "Mr. Television's" latest movie, "CHARLEY CHAN GETS MARINATED" (released in 1921) which is even better than his previous release "CHARLEY CHAN CAPTURES THE KAISER" (1917). This one is about a man named Gustave Gherkin, who owns a pickle factory in Indianapolis, Ind. Mr. Gherkin sends for Charley when he discovers that someone is putting wart remover in his pickle vats and it's ruining his business because customers complain they can't get a good grip on a smooth pickle. Well, as soon as Charley arrives he plunges into action. He climbs in the pickle barrel and poses as a sour cucumber until he captures the culprit. If you're a Chan Fan you'll relish this one.

Californian Plans Her 14th Wedding

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Mrs. Beverly Nina O'Malley, 44, a diminutive blonde who has been marrying since she was 16, is now planning her 14th wedding.

Yesterday she obtained a divorce from husband No. 13, Raymond Joseph O'Malley. She plans to obtain a marriage license today to wed No. 14, Gabriel L. Avery, also 44.

Judge Elmer Doyle commented: "On the basis of the past record, one can't have too much confidence in this latest venture. But who knows? Maybe this one will stick."

status with restricted blood deliveries to all hospitals.

Berger Hospital, it was pointed out, would be one of the regional hospitals that would be affected if such restrictions became necessary.

A MEMORANDUM issued by C. H. Braley, administrative director for the regional center, went on to elaborate on the situation as follows:

"The blood collection rate for all mobile unit operations has been dropping steadily over the past several weeks. Since the week of April 1 there has been only one quota collection. The majority of operations have produced from 50 percent to 60 percent of quota.

"Quota production for these visits would have totaled 1,650 pints of blood. We collected, however, only 770 pints.

"As a result of these very poor collections the blood supply of the region is critical. Many chapters have called the center over the past few days asking why certain individuals were not receiving the blood they needed or on the particular date it was requested. The answer, of course, is obvious.

"With blood collections of the caliber of the past several weeks, it is impossible for this center to meet the total blood needs of the region. We must give emergency cases top priority for available blood. Electric surgery cases consequently are re-scheduled at a later date when the supply of the required type of blood is available. We realize full well that such procedures create difficult public relations problems.

"However, it cannot be stressed enough that the only answer to this problem is adequate blood collections. . . .

"THE PURPOSE of this memorandum is to advise you of the seriousness of the situation so that you may take steps to prevent the blood supply of the region remaining at an emergency level. Please concentrate the full resources of your chapter and your community to increasing blood collections for the summer months ahead. We must receive your help in order to provide your hospitals with the blood they need."

New Bills Filed For Boost In Postmen's Pay

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate action in upholding President Eisenhower's veto of a postal pay raise averaging more than 8 1/2 per cent was followed today by moves to vote a slightly smaller boost.

Ignoring the advice of Sen. Neely (D-W.Va.) they were following Eisenhower "into a political graveyard," senators yesterday upheld the President's veto of a bill which would have given 500,000 postal workers a pay increase averaging 8.6 per cent and fringe benefits bringing the total to 8.8 per cent. The President called this too high.

The 54-39 Senate vote (8 votes short of the two-thirds margin needed to override a veto) gave the President a major political victory in the first congressional challenge of his veto power. Voting to sustain were 46 Democrats and 8 Republicans; voting to override were 37 Republicans and 2 Democrats.

Leading an unsuccessful fight to override the veto, Sen. Olin D. Johnston (D-SC) called Eisenhower "that poor, misguided and confused man in the White House." He urged the Senate to resist "complete domination" by the Republican administration.

After the Senate sustained the veto and thereby killed the bill, identical bills were introduced in both Senate and House for a minimum pay raise of 6 per cent which Sen. Carlson (R-Kan.) said he knew would be acceptable to the President.

Local Youth Hurt In City Accident

Blame for a car-motorcycle accident on Pinckney St. Tuesday afternoon has been put on the bike rider, according to a police report.

James Storts, 16, is accused of riding his Whizzer bike out of an alley into the path of the car. The lad, son of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Storts, of 112 1/2 W. High St., suffered a broken thumb and a bruised leg.

Officer John Lockard reported that a car driven by Julia C. Wellman, 30, of Circleville Route 3, was going west on Pinckney St. The youth was going south, having entered the alley at W. High St.

Lockard said the youth failed to stop, although traffic on Pinckney St. has the right of way. Storts, who was thrown from his bike in the mishap, was treated at Berger Hospital and released.

Dems Coincident Of Victory On Highway Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate begins voting today on the hotly disputed highway bill with Democrats confident they can defeat Republican efforts to substitute President Eisenhower's plan. Sponsors of the Democratic bill predicted it would win final passage by tonight.

Republican leaders were ready to offer the President's road-building proposal in place of the Democratic bill sponsored by Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.). But they conceded privately this move had little chance of success.

Rather, they were pinning hopes on a plan to send the Gore bill back to the Public Works Committee and thus shelve it.

The administration is counting on getting much more support in the House.

As the test neared, Sen. Byrd (D-Va.) fired a heavy salvo aimed particularly at financing features of the Eisenhower road plan. He criticized proposals to set up what he termed a "dummy corporation" to issue 30-year bonds and to earmark gasoline tax revenues to pay off those bonds.

"IF IT IS possible to issue bonds on so-called capitalization of a tax not to be collected in full for 30 years, with a declaration that the bonds will not be a legal debt of the United States government, then it would be possible to earmark in similar fashion other taxes, such as the tobacco tax, for some specific purpose and borrow money on it outside of the budget and the debt limitation."

Byrd said also the President's plan would:

1. Abolish the present formula for distributing highway grants to states and turn over to the proposed federal corporation "absolute control over 40,000 miles of our most important roads."
 2. Dry up for 22 years after completion of the interstate highway network—and until the bonds are paid off—all revenues from the federal gas tax.
 3. Give toll road states "wind-fall" refunds that could run as high as $8 billion.
- He said he favors repeal of the 2-cent-a-gallon federal gasoline tax so the states could take over that tax field. He said he also is for retaining federal aid highway grants at present levels. The Gore bill would increase such grants considerably.

Under either the Gore bill or the Eisenhower proposal the government would embark on one of the biggest nondefense spending programs in U.S. history.

The Gore bill calls for about $18 billion of federal-state spending on the four federal aid highway systems over a five-year period. The federal share, more than two thirds of the total, would be financed by direct appropriations.

The Eisenhower plan calls for $38 billion of federal-state outlays on the four systems in 10 years. The great bulk of this would be on the 40,000-mile interstate system of superhighways to link up all parts of the nation. And $21 billion of the total would be raised by bonds issued by a separate federal corporation outside the legal debt limit.

Dr. H. H. Swope Jr., Circleville physician who was seriously injured in an automobile crash two weeks ago, is improving.

Although he wears a cast around the upper part of his body, he is able to move around with a quite a bit of freedom. He suffered a fractured vertebra in the mishap, which occurred on Route 22 west of Circleville.

The accident took place when Dr. Swope had to swerve his car in order to avoid a wrecker truck which had reportedly begun to make a left turn in front of him. Dr. Swope was thrown from his car, which overturned.

Driver of the second vehicle is to be cited into city court when Dr. Swope is able to testify.

Potential Killers Riding Highways

(Last of a series)
To emphasize how law-abiding citizens are almost constantly at the mercy of careless motorists, The Herald is reviewing a few of the more serious local accidents of the past year.

These few, and all the others like them across the nation, serve as grim reminders of the fact that certain types of motorists continue to ride as potential killers behind the wheel.

Thursday at 8 p. m. in the Pickaway County courthouse, the county's Traffic Safety Committee will meet to undergo a reorganization and to plan lines of attack on this problem as it shows, from time to time, on district streets and highways.

Alabama Studies New Tax On Ads

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Bills designed to preserve segregated schools in Alabama and provide a 3 per cent tax on all types of advertising were introduced yesterday in the Alabama House.

The proposal by Rep. James DeLoach would levy a tax on advertising in newspaper, magazines, periodicals, signs, billboards, and on radio and television stations.

The tax would be based on gross receipts from such advertising and proceeds would be earmarked for the state's elementary schools. A companion bill provides that "no white or colored child shall be compelled to attend a school where the races are comingled."

Final Decision On Vaccine Believed Near

group plans to "explore fully" just what happened in the vaccination campaign which came to a halt after some polio cases developed following the first of three proposed injections. He named Scheele as one of the witnesses.

PRIEST SAID the committee aim is to draft legislation giving the Welfare Department broader powers over distribution and safety testing of any new drug products intended for mass use.

Also up for committee consideration is President Eisenhower's request for authorization of a $28 million fund to pay for vaccine for children whose parents cannot afford it.

Scheele said last night that he has "every confidence" in the limited supplies of vaccine released after a check of manufacturers' safety precautions, as well as the material—except for the two suspect batches—previously used.

In an earlier statement, Scheele mentioned 56 cases of paralytic polio as having occurred among children injected with Cutter vaccine. He said there was "strong presumptive evidence that there was a cause and effect relationship between the cases of paralytic poliomyelitis and the two lots of Cutter vaccine out of the nine released."

However, he said tests of the Cutter vaccine "continue in progress." And in Berkeley, Calif., the Cutter Laboratories put out a statement saying:

"IT IS OUR understanding that this is an interim statement and not a final report. The final determination of it is yet to be made by the U. S. Public Health Service."

All Cutter vaccine has been kept out of use for nearly a month, pending the outcome of tests.

In an apparent general reference to the possibility of additional post-inoculation cases, Scheele said:

"To the extent that a single injection of vaccine is not fully effective, a few vaccinated children may be expected to develop paralytic poliomyelitis as some did in the 1954 field trial period."

About six million youngsters already have received first shots in a three-shot series. Basil O. Connor, President of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, said:

"The foundation expects to be able to get enough vaccine to complete second shots for first and second-graders by June 30, if the National Institute of Health releases it." The foundation is paying for the mass inoculation program.

According to the latest available health service figures, there has been a tentative total of 682 polio cases among all age groups since April 10, just before the Salk vaccine test results were made public.

ONE WOMAN in a nearby house said she heard a loud crash, looked out her window and saw the two cars "up in the air."

The Pennsylvania driver was apparently thrown out of the car and was killed instantly. His wife and the baby sitter were injured.

The three occupants of the other car were badly hurt, with the driver—a 22-year old man—being in "serious" condition for some time. The infant, however, escaped without a scratch.

The Columbus motorist was accused of second degree manslaughter and failure to yield the right of way. (There are stop signs guarding the approaches on Route 104 just before the intersection with Route 22, giving the latter route the right of way.)

The Columbus man is indicted by the grand jury. After he is released from a Columbus hospital, he pleads guilty in Common Pleas Court here and is placed on probation.

Judge Hints Perjury In Murder Trial

McCONNELSVILLE (AP) — Common Pleas Judge Carlos Ricker interrupted examination of prospective jurors in the Frances Sloan first degree murder trial today to ask for a special investigation of jurors who have already been examined.

The judge ordered Prosecuting Atty. F. H. Cox to investigate all jurors who were excused, saying "perjury may have been committed."

He said he would not call a special grand jury at this time but would allow the prosecutor to make a full investigation.

Only 11 jurors in a venire of 60 called had been seated tentatively when court opened today—six men and five women. The trial opened Monday.

The majority excused said they were opposed to capital punishment or had formed an opinion.

Mrs. Sloan, a slender, 28-year-old New Lexington housewife, has been indicted in the gunshot slaying of her nephew, Kenneth Strohl, 16. He was found dead outside the former Sloan home near Rose Farm last Jan. 5.

Raymond Sloan, 38, Mrs. Sloan's husband, also was indicted in the death, and is to be tried later.

Ex-Navy Officer's 'Crew' Mutinies

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Retired Navy officer Charles B. Day ran a "tight ship" at his home and the crew mutinied.

The "crew," Day's wife Loretta, won a divorce yesterday. She testified before Judge Louis H. Burke that Day, a former lieutenant commander, insisted the home be run like a ship. She said:

"Day called his den 'Officers' quarters' and she could not enter when red, white and blue pennants were flying. And he insisted on 'a clean sweep down fore and aft.'"

Mrs. Day, 33, had been married to the Navy man 27 years.

Canada, Danes Not Troubled By Salk Shots

NEW YORK (AP) — Canada and Denmark today reported they have vaccinated about 1,150,000 children against polio with Salk-type vaccine. Officials said not a single case of the disease attributable to the serum has turned up.

750,000 children so far. One post-inoculation case of polio has been reported, but "it was found to have been infected with the virus before getting its first injection," a Federal Health Department spokesman in Ottawa said.

In Denmark 400,000 children have been inoculated. Authorities in Copenhagen said no polio has been reported in the country since the program began five weeks ago.

Canada and Denmark are the only countries outside the United States carrying on programs of mass inoculations.

In some, polio is not a major medical problem. These include Italy, France, Belgium and the Netherlands, although France's Pasteur Institute is developing a vaccine similar to Dr. Jonas Salk's and plans to test it on a sizable scale in about two months.

Shortage of the vaccine has delayed some programs. Norway for this reason has postponed indefinitely an ambitious campaign to inoculate all elementary school pupils. Switzerland does not expect supplies from the United States until August and will test it extensively before using it.

News of U. S. difficulties with the vaccine has delayed other programs. Britain's Medical Research Council, which planned test vaccinations, is awaiting a study of safety methods a member of its staff is making in the U. S.

Fate Of Pair Of Slayers Up To Governor

COLUMBUS (AP)—Two convicted Ohio slayers will die in the electric chair June 3 unless Gov. Frank J. Lausche heeds their pleas for clemency.

The State Pardon and Parole Commission yesterday heard appeals by the two, William Garner of Cincinnati and Benjamin E. Meyers of Logan.

Garner, 36, was convicted in the fatal shooting of Mrs. Laura Walker in a Cincinnati cafe March 6, 1954. Mrs. Walker, mother of four, had been seeing Garner while separated from her husband.

Meyers, 25, killed his wife Velva, 24, during a domestic quarrel Feb. 15, 1954.

Garner's attorney, Bernard J. Gilday, said he thought the death penalty was too severe.

Meyers' attorneys, James S. Peterson and Richard E. Gerken, asked for clemency, saying Meyers was married at 16, and that he and his wife had many quarrels.

They said Meyers had gone to the home where his wife was staying in an effort to persuade her to return home with him, but they became involved in an argument. She was shot four times.

The Ohio Supreme Court turned down the appeals of both men May 4. The parole commission will report its recommendation to Governor Lausche, with whom final decision rests.

Regional Office Warns Supply May Be Cut

status with restricted blood deliveries to all hospitals.

Berger Hospital, it was pointed out, would be one of the regional hospitals that would be affected if such restrictions became necessary.

A MEMORANDUM issued by C. H. Bralley, administrative director for the regional center, went on to elaborate on the situation as follows:

"The blood collection rate for all mobile unit operations has been dropping steadily over the past several weeks. Since the week of April 1 there has been only one quota collection. The majority of operations have produced from 50 percent to 60 percent of quota.

"Quota production for these visits would have totaled 1,650 pints of blood. We collected, however, only 770 pints.

"As a result of these very poor collections the blood supply of the region is critical. Many chapters have called the center over the past few days asking why certain individuals were not receiving the blood they needed or on the particular date it was requested. The answer, of course, is obvious.

"With blood collections of the caliber of the past several weeks, it is impossible for this center to meet the total blood needs of the region. We must give emergency cases top priority for available blood. Electric surgery cases consequently are re-scheduled at a later date when the supply of the required type of blood is available. We realize full well that such procedures create difficult public relations problems.

"However, it cannot be stressed enough that the only answer to this problem is adequate blood collections.

"THE PURPOSE of this memorandum is to advise you of the seriousness of the situation so that you may take steps to prevent the blood supply of the region remaining at an emergency level. Please concentrate the full resources of your chapter and your community to increasing blood collections for the summer months ahead. We must receive your help in order to provide your hospitals with the blood they need."

New Bills Filed For Boost In Postmen's Pay

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate action in upholding President Eisenhower's veto of a postal pay raise averaging more than 8½ per cent was followed today by moves to vote a slightly smaller boost.

Ignoring the advice of Sen. Neely (D-W.Va.) they were following Eisenhower "into a political graveyard," senators yesterday upheld the President's veto of a bill which would have given 500,000 postal workers a pay increase averaging 8.6 per cent and fringe benefits bringing the total to 8.8 per cent. The President called this too high. The 54-39 Senate vote (8 votes short of the two-thirds margin needed to override a veto) gave the President a major political victory in the first congressional challenge of his veto power. Voting to override were 46 Democrats and 8 Republicans; voting to sustain were 37 Republicans and 2 Democrats.

Leading an unsuccessful fight to override the veto, Sen. Olin D. Johnston (D-SC) called Eisenhower "that poor, misguided and confused man in the White House." He urged the Senate to resist "complete domination" by the Republican administration.

After the Senate sustained the veto and thereby killed the bill, identical bills were introduced in both Senate and House for a minimum pay raise of 6 per cent which Sen. Carlson (R-Kan) said he knew would be acceptable to the President.

Local Youth Hurt In City Accident

Blame for a car-motorcycle accident on Pinckney St. Tuesday afternoon has been put on the bike rider, according to a police report.

James Storts, 16, is accused of riding his Whizzer bike out of an alley into the path of the car. The lad, son of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Storts, of 112½ W. High St., suffered a broken thumb and a bruised leg.

Officer John Lockard reported that a car driven by Julia C. Wellman, 30, of Circleville Route 3, was going west on Pinckney St. The youth was going south, having entered the alley at W. High St.

Lockard said the youth failed to stop, although traffic on Pinckney St. has the right of way. Storts, who was thrown from his bike in the mishap, was treated at Berger Hospital and released.

Dems Confident Of Victory On Highway Bill

GOP Holds Little Hope Of Success For Ike's Federal Road Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate begins voting today on the hotly disputed highway bill with Democrats confident they can defeat Republican efforts to substitute President Eisenhower's plan. Sponsors of the Democratic bill predicted it would win final passage by tonight.

Republican leaders were ready to offer the President's road-building proposal in place of the Democratic bill sponsored by Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.). But they conceded privately this move had little chance of success.

Rather, they were pinning hopes on a plan to send the Gore bill back to the Public Works Committee and thus shelve it.

The administration is counting on getting much more support in the House.

As the test neared, Sen. Byrd (D-Va.) fired a heavy salvo aimed particularly at financing features of the Eisenhower road plan. He criticized proposals to set up what he termed a "dummy corporation" to issue 30-year bonds and to earmark gasoline tax revenues to pay off those bonds.

"IF IT IS possible to issue bonds on so-called capitalization of a tax not to be collected in full for 30 years, with a declaration that the bonds will not be a legal debt of the United States government, then it would be possible to earmark in similar fashion other taxes, such as the tobacco tax, for some specific purpose and borrow money on it outside of the budget and the debt limitation."

Byrd said also the President's plan would:

1. Abolish the present formula for distributing highway grants to states and turn over to the proposed federal corporation "absolute control over 40,000 miles of our most important roads."

2. Dry up for 22 years after completion of the interstate highway network—and until the bonds are paid off—all revenues from the federal gas tax.

3. Give toll road states "windfall" refunds that could run as high as $8 billion.

He said he favors repeal of the 2-cent-a-gallon federal gasoline tax so the states could take over that tax field. He said he also is for retaining federal aid highway grants at present levels. The Gore bill would increase such grants considerably.

Under either the Gore bill or the Eisenhower proposal the government would embark on one of the biggest nondefense spending programs in U.S. history.

The Gore bill calls for about $18 billion of federal-state spending on the four federal aid highway systems over a five-year period. The federal share, more than two thirds of the total, would be financed by direct appropriations.

The Eisenhower plan calls for $38 billion of federal-state outlays on the four systems in 10 years. The great bulk of this would be on the 40,000-mile interstate system of superhighways to link up all parts of the nation. And $21 billion of the total would be raised by bonds issued by a separate federal corporation outside the legal debt limit.

Dr. Swope Better; Hurt 2 Weeks Ago

Dr. H. H. Swope Jr., Circleville physician who was seriously injured in an automobile crash two weeks ago, is improving.

Although he wears a cast around the upper part of his body, he is able to move around with a quite a bit of freedom. He suffered a fractured vertebra in the mishap, which occurred on Route 22 west of Circleville.

The accident took place when Dr. Swope had to swerve his car in order to avoid a wrecker truck which had reportedly begun to make a left turn in front of him.

Dr. Swope was thrown from his car, which overturned.

Driver of the second vehicle is to be cited into city court when Dr. Swope is able to testify.

Potential Killers Riding Highways

(Last of a series)

To emphasize how law-abiding citizens are almost constantly at the mercy of careless motorists, The Herald is reviewing a few of the more serious local accidents of the past year.

These few, and all the others like them across the nation, serve as grim reminders of the fact that certain types of motorists continue to ride as potential killers behind the wheel.

Thursday at 8 p. m. in the Pickaway County courthouse, the county's Traffic Safety Committee will meet to undergo a reorganization and to plan lines of attack on this problem as it shows, from time to time, on district streets and highways.

The meeting will be open to the public.

A 29-year old Lancaster motorist has stopped his southbound car on Route 23 a short distance south of Circleville to make a left turn. It is approximately 1:40 p. m. on a clear July Tuesday.

He is waiting for oncoming traffic to clear so he can make the turn. Suddenly, a car comes up from the rear and crashes into the Lancaster man's machine.

The impact of the crash throws the Lancaster man out of his car onto the road—and into the path of a large truck coming from the opposite direction. His car catches fire and partially burns.

THE LANCASTER man is taken to Berger Hospital and later is transferred to a Columbus hospital. He undergoes surgery but does not regain consciousness for more than a month.

He is eventually released from the hospital. But the surgeon says the Lancaster man was injured permanently.

Driver of the car which struck that of the Lancaster man is identified as a 61-year old Columbus man. He is accused of failure to stop with assured clear distance and is later fined.

The Columbus motorist and his two passengers assert that they did not know what had happened.

A PENNSYLVANIA family, with an infant son and a baby sister in the back seat of the car, is headed home after a visit to Louisville, Ky.

Their late model car is traveling east on Route 22 on a rainy Friday last May. It is less than half an hour until noon.

As they approach the intersection of Route 104—approximately four miles west of Circleville—they continue on, knowing they have the right of way.

Meanwhile, another car is approaching the intersection from the north. The three occupants are from Columbus, on their way to West Virginia.

There apparently were no eye-witnesses to the crash, other than the occupants of both cars—and they were all too stunned to remember clearly what had happened.

ONE WOMAN in a nearby house said she heard a loud crash, looked out her window and saw the two cars "up in the air."

The Pennsylvania driver was apparently thrown out of the car and was killed instantly. His wife and the baby sister were injured.

The three occupants of the other car were badly hurt, with the driver—a 22-year old man—being in "serious" condition for some time. The infant, however, escaped without a scratch.

The Columbus motorist was accused of second degree manslaughter and failure to yield the right of way. (There are stop signs guarding the approaches on Route 104 just before the intersection with Route 22, giving the latter route the right of way.)

The Columbus man is indicted by the grand jury. After he is released from a Columbus hospital, he pleads guilty in Common Pleas Court here and is placed on probation.

Alabama Studies New Tax On Ads

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Bills designed to preserve segregated schools in Alabama and provide a 3 per cent tax on all types of advertising were introduced yesterday in the Alabama House.

The proposal by Rep. James DeMont would levy a tax on advertising in newspaper, magazines, periodicals, signs, billboards, and on radio and television stations.

The tax would be based on gross receipts from such advertising and proceeds would be earmarked for the state's elementary schools. A companion bill provides that "no white or colored child shall be compelled to attend a school where the races are comingled."

Final Decision On Vaccine Believed Near

group plans to "explore fully" just what happened in the vaccination campaign which came to a halt after some polio cases developed following the first of three proposed injections. He named Scheele as one of the witnesses.

PRIEST SAID the committee aim is to draft legislation giving the Welfare Department broader powers over distribution and safety testing of any new drug products intended for mass use.

Also up for committee consideration is President Eisenhower's request for authorization of a $28 million fund to pay for vaccine for children whose parents cannot afford it.

Scheele said last night that he has "every confidence" in the limited supplies of vaccine released after a check of manufacturers' safety precautions, as well as the material—except for the two suspect batches—previously used.

In an earlier statement, Scheele mentioned 56 cases of paralytic polio as having occurred among children injected with Cutter vaccine. He said there was "strong presumptive evidence" that there was a cause and effect relationship between the cases of paralytic poliomyelitis and the two lots of Cutter vaccine out of the nine released.

However, he said tests of the Cutter vaccine "continue in progress." And in Berkeley, Calif., the Cutter Laboratories put out a statement saying:

"IT IS OUR understanding that this is an interim statement and not a final report. The final determination of it is yet to be made by the U. S. Public Health Service."

All Cutter vaccine has been kept out of use for nearly a month, pending the outcome of tests.

In an apparent general reference to the possibility of additional post-inoculation cases, Scheele said: "To the extent that a single injection of vaccine is not fully effective, a few vaccinated children may be expected to develop paralytic poliomyelitis as some did in the 1954 field trial period."

About six million youngsters already have received first shots in a three-shot series. Basil O. Connor, President of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, said:

"The foundation expects to be able to get enough vaccine to complete second shots for first and second-graders by June 30, if the National Institute of Health releases it." The foundation is paying for the mass inoculation program.

According to the latest available health service figures, there has been a tentative total of 682 polio cases among all age groups since April 10, just before the Salk vaccine test results were made public.

The couple also has a civil suit against Smith, seeking $300 they say was spent caring for the boy.

Strangers Talk Informally Just Before Shooting

RICHMOND, Ky. (AP)—"What's your name?" Barnett Masters, 24, pondered the impromptu question and replied:

"I don't have a name. I'm a stranger here."

Then he reconsidered and added: "My name is Masters. What's yours?"

"My name is Dink Powell," came the reply.

Clyde McQueen, testifying Tuesday at Powell's murder trial, said there was no argument; no other preliminaries when Masters was shot dead March 12 in a rural restaurant.

He said Powell "drew a pistol from his bosom" and shot Masters on the spot.

The trial continued today.

County Receives Official's Estate

ELIZABETHTOWN, Ky. (AP)—Even in death H. B. Fife remembered the people who kept him in office 40 years.

His estate, valued at more than $250,000, will go to Hardin County, where he served as judge, magistrate, sheriff and deputy sheriff.

The will stipulates that income from the estate should go for road building, construction of an airport, a county jail or courthouse.

The principal must be held in trust by the county.

Fife, who died May 15 at 82, never married. He had only one known survivor, a niece living in New York City.

The banquet tables were decorated with a school boy and girl theme with school children cut-outs and old-fashioned slates bearing the traditional school lessons and pictures.

Following a ham dinner, School Board president S. J. Bowers gave a welcome address to the group. This was followed by special music furnished by the class of 1955 and consisted of: a duo-piano number by Alverna Rinehart and Everett Mehrley and a vocal solo by Mary Lou Cloud.

John B. Hardin, Ashville superintendent then presented the members of the 1955 graduating class who were guests of honor. He also introduced members of the local faculty and all former teachers present were asked to stand and give their names.

THE WELCOME to the seniors was given by Gene Tosca, and the response by Robert Wright, president of the graduating class. Group singing was directed by Mrs. Roland Featheringham and accompanied by Mrs. Martin Cromley.

Lady Clerics Given OK By Presbyterians

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Should women be ordained as preachers?

"Yes," says the 167th General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America. Its approval recently by a vote of about 3 or 4 to 1 now goes to the church's 256 Presbyteries or local groups. A majority must vote approval.

During lively floor debate, the Rev. Victor G. Dawe of Framingham, Mass., declared:

"Too often when women have felt themselves called to be bishops, it has resulted in cults and heresies. Witness Mary Baker Eddy in Boston and Aimee Semple McPherson here in Los Angeles."

The late Mrs. Eddy was the founder of Christian Science. The late Mrs. McPherson was a colorful evangelist who founded the Church of Foursquare Gospel.

The Rev. LeRoy Patrick, Pittsburgh, stuck up for the women, saying that "we say that cults and heresies are associated peculiarly with them. The Christian faith has been history's most potent force in elevating women. I, for one, do not fear their ordination."

A committee report urging their ordination said the Bible teaches "in Christ Jesus there is neither male nor female" and commented: "There is no theological ground for denying ordination to women simply because they are women."

Bank Theft Alarm Is Proven False

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Police answering a burglar alarm Tuesday with guns drawn, nabbed a man with a sack of money as he was leaving the Upper Arlington branch of the Ohio National Bank. Then someone told them the alarm was tripped by accident. The man, Leo Campbell, was taking the money to the state liquor store nearby, where he works.

World Today

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press
News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—A year ago Secretary of Defense Wilson said he thought the Russians were building a "defensive" air force. If that was right the United States, which had been building long-range bombers that could attack Russia, seemed safe.

But now comes word from Wilson that the Russians have made enormous strides in building long-range bombers which could be used to attack targets far from Russia. Did this mean the Russians were ahead of this country? At once a dispute began; one word led to another. This is it:

May 12—Sen. Symington (D-Mo.), who was secretary of the Air Force under President Truman, said the country's military program "is menaced by a deliberate policy on the part of the government" of withholding information.

May 13—The Pentagon issued an announcement, with White House approval and based on an analysis of Air Force intelligence reports made that the Russians flew a group of planes over Moscow recently.

The statement said the Russians were cutting into this country's lead in the production of heavy, long-range and medium jet bombers.

May 17—Symington said Wilson had underestimated Soviet air strength. He said the United States, "along with the rest of the free world," may have lost control of the air.

May 18—President Eisenhower told a news conference "it is just not true" that this country "has lost in a twinkling all of this great technical development and technical knowledge as well as the numbers in our total aircraft."

May 18—That same day, in Detroit, Brig. Gen. Woodbury M. Burgess, deputy chief of staff for intelligence of the Continental Air Defense Command, was quoted by newsmen as saying, "The Russian air force is currently at least as good as ours, possibly better."

May 19—Burgess said he had been misquoted. Newsmen who heard him stuck to their stories. Burgess already had been publicly rebuked by Gen. Nathan F. Twining, Air Force chief of staff, who said Burgess had not told the truth and had exaggerated.

May 20—The same day as Burgess' denial, Secretary of the Air Force Talbot said this country's air power was greater than Russia's. But he acknowledged surprise at Russia's progress and said, "It makes us sit back and take notice."

May 20—An Air Force officer, Lt. Gen. Thomas S. Power, toned down a prepared speech saying the Soviets have "resources in manpower and materiel we could not possibly match" and that the Russians have the world's largest air force.

May 20—Twining acknowledged the Russians are building a mighty bomber force which "could attack us."

May 22—Aviation Week magazine said the Russians had displayed over Moscow this month aircraft so advanced and so numerous it has shocked "even the top-level and the most knowledgeable military aviation leaders in the Pentagon."

May 24—Tuesday Wilson read

State's Mental Chief To Resign

COLUMBUS (AP)—Dr. Lowell O. Dillon will resign, effective June 30, as state commissioner of mental hygiene.

Dillon, 43, has been commissioner of mental hygiene since 1949. A high department spokesman who asked that his name not be used, said Dr. John D. Porterfield, director of the division of mental hygiene and correction, has entered into a "gentleman's agreement" with Dillon about the resignation. The spokesman said Dillon will take two years of psychiatric training at the University of California.

Ohio Power Co. Grants Pay Hike
ZANESVILLE (AP)—Workers in three Ohio Power Co. plants have approved a new two-year agreement giving them a 5-7 cents hourly wage increase.

Ohio Power employees voted yesterday on the agreement, covering some 700 workers in plants at Philadelphia, Brilliant and Beachbottom, W. Va. The agreement came after six weeks' negotiations between the firm and the Electrical Workers of America, CIO.

Smith-Dale Comedy Team Holds Together 57 Years
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The battling comedy teams of today can take a lesson from Smith and Dale, who have been creating laughs together for 57 years.

Comedians like Abbott and Costello and Martin and Lewis have suffered splits and dissensions which have placed strains on their career. Smith and Dale can show them how two men can live and work together in a highly competitive business and still get along.

No vaudeville fan needs to be told who Smith and Dale are. But to the younger generation, it can be explained that they were the more famous members of the Avon Comedy Four.

Some years ago, Variety polled veteran stars on which were the best acts of the vaude era. The majority placed the Avon Comedy Four at the top of their lists. Their most famous routine is the zany Dr. Kronkite sketch.

Smith and Dale are getting belly laughs with Dr. Kronkite nightly at a night club called the Bantbox. "I'll tell you why we've never split up," said Joe Smith, who is 71, powerfully built, and hawknosed with a dapper mustache. "We've had our fights in the dressing room and listeners say, 'oh-oh, this is the end of the team.'"

"But we never carry our disagreements out of theater. Whenever we argue, it's for the good of the act. There's no jealousy over who gets laughs."

"That's right," added Charley Dale, almost 74, a wry-looking fellow with heavy-lidded eyes and a fighter's nose. "That's what breaks most teams up. One of them wants to be an individualist. You can't think about laughs for yourself alone. You've got to think about the good of the act."

They've been doing "Dr. Kronkite" since 1906. As Smith says, "if the number of times we have done it were laid end to end, it would be endless." They've performed it in every medium from vaude to video.

Bond Issue Dispute Taken To Court
BELLEFONTAINE (AP)—Fred G. Wood, school board head, has asked common pleas court here for a mandamus action requiring board clerk Joe Jones to validate a $1,250,000 bond issue for three new schools, approved by voters last May 3.

Jones declined to act because legal notice of the election, to have been published April 3, did not appear until April 22, through an election board error.

Mexico's ancient Aztecs used captives as human sacrifices to their gods. Often the prisoners lived in luxury and ceremonial splendor for a full year before the sacrificial ceremony.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A year ago Secretary of Defense Wilson said he thought the Russians were building a "defensive" air force. If that was right the United States, which had been building long-range bombers that could attack Russia, seemed safe.

But now comes word from Wilson that the Russians have made enormous strides in building long-range bombers which could be used to attack targets far from Russia. Did this mean the Russians were ahead of this country? At once a dispute began; one word led to another. This is it:

May 12—Sen. Symington (D-Mo.), who was secretary of the Air Force under President Truman, said the country's military program "is menaced by a deliberate policy on the part of the government" of withholding information.

May 13—The Pentagon issued an announcement, with White House approval and based on an analysis of Air Force intelligence reports made that the Russians flew a group of planes over Moscow recently.

The statement said the Russians were cutting into this country's lead in the production of heavy, long-range and medium jet bombers.

May 17—Symington said Wilson had underestimated Soviet air strength. He said the United States, "along with the rest of the free world," may have lost control of the air.

May 18—President Eisenhower told a news conference "it is just not true" that this country "has lost in a twinkling all of this great technical development and technical knowledge as well as the numbers in our total aircraft."

May 18—That same day, in Detroit, Brig. Gen. Woodbury M. Burgess, deputy chief of staff for intelligence of the Continental Air Defense Command, was quoted by newsmen as saying, "The Russian air force is currently at least as good as ours, possibly better."

May 19—Burgess said he had been misquoted. Newsmen who heard him stuck to their stories. Burgess already had been publicly rebuked by Gen. Nathan F. Twining, Air Force chief of staff, who said Burgess had not told the truth and had exaggerated.

May 19—The same day as Burgess' denial, Secretary of the Air Force Talbot said this country's air power was greater than Russia's. But he acknowledged surprise at Russia's progress and said, "It makes us sit back and take notice."

May 20—An Air Force officer, Lt. Gen. Thomas S. Power, toned down a prepared speech saying the Soviets have "resources in manpower and materiel we could not possibly match" and that the Russians have the world's largest air force.

May 20—Twining acknowledged the Russians are building a mighty bomber force which "could attack us."

May 22—Aviation Week magazine said the Russians had displayed over Moscow this month aircraft so advanced and so numerous it has shocked "even the top-level and the most knowledgeable military aviation leaders in the Pentagon."

State's Mental Chief To Resign

COLUMBUS (AP)—Dr. Lowell O. Dillon will resign, effective June 30, as state commissioner of mental hygiene.

Dillon, 43, has been commissioner of mental hygiene since 1949. A high department spokesman who asked that his name not be used, said Dr. John D. Porterfield, director of the division of mental hygiene and correction, has entered into a "gentleman's agreement" with Dillon about the resignation. The spokesman said Dillon will take two years of psychiatric training at the University of California.

Ohio Power Co. Grants Pay Hike

ZANESVILLE (AP)—Workers in three Ohio Power Co. plants have approved a new two-year agreement giving them a 5-7 cents hourly wage increase.

Ohio Power employees voted yesterday on the agreement, covering some 700 workers in plants at Philadelphia, Brilliant and Beachbottom, W. Va. The agreement came after six weeks' negotiations between the firm and the Electrical Utilities Workers of America, CIO.

Smith-Dale Comedy Team Holds Together 57 Years

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The battling comedy teams of today can take a lesson from Smith and Dale, who have been creating laughs together for 57 years.

Comedians like Abbott and Costello and Martin and Lewis have suffered splits and dissensions which have placed strains on their career. Smith and Dale can show them how two men can live and work together in a highly competitive business and still get along.

No vaudeville fan needs to be told who Smith and Dale are. But to the younger generation, it can be explained that they were the more famous members of the Avon Comedy Four.

Some years ago, Variety polled veteran stars on which were the best acts of the vaude era. The majority placed the Avon Comedy Four at the top of their lists. Their most famous routine is the zany Dr. Kronkite sketch.

Smith and Dale are getting belly laughs with Dr. Kronkite nightly at a night club called the Bandbox.

"I'll tell you why we've never split up," said Joe Smith, who is 71, powerfully built, and hawk-nosed with a dapper mustache. "We've had our fights in the dressing room and listeners say, 'oh-oh, this is the end of the team.' But we never carry our disagreements out of theater. When-

Bond Issue Dispute Taken To Court

BELLEFONTAINE (AP)—Fred G. Wood, school board head, has asked common pleas court here for a mandamus action requiring board clerk Joe Jones to validate a $1,250,000 bond issue for three new schools, approved by voters last May 3.

Jones declined to act because legal notice of the election, to have been published April 3, did not appear until April 22, through an election board error.

3 Top Issues Face Steel Industry Men

Prices, Expansion And Wages Pondered By Big Mill Chiefs

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Top men of the nation's booming steel industry are in New York today with three immediate worries on their minds: wages, prices, expansion.

They have gathered for the annual meeting of the American Iron & Steel Institute. Formal discussions will be on the technical problems and accomplishments of the industry. There'll be assessments of the present boom and its probable life expectancy.

But in the corridors the earnest talk will be of what to do about wages, prices and expansion. What the steel industry does about those three things could help set a national pattern.

Wage talks with the steelworkers union open in a couple of weeks in Pittsburgh. Rumor has it that the union will ask for a wage increase of more than 16 cents an hour. Steel executives here for the meeting will have a chance to compare ideas on how much management should offer. Some believe that when the negotiations are over the settlement will be around 12 cents an hour.

Steel wage talks start after the auto industry's deadline has passed. What happens in Detroit will have a strong effect on the steel talks.

A strike in the auto industry would cut off the steel mills' best customer. Or, a liberal wage increase there as a compromise on the auto union's other demands would be a strong talking point for the steelworkers in bargaining with steel management.

The guaranteed annual wage—chief bone of contention in Detroit—won't come up in the steel industry until next year.

A steel price hike is just as pressing a topic today. Leaders in the industry have said a price increase is necessary, no matter what the outcome of the wage talks next month. They cite rising operating costs.

Their customers, noting the record or near-record earnings that some steel companies reported in the first three months of the year, will hope that the price hike can be held to a small one.

Steel executives in New York today will have a chance to compare views on how big a price hike to plan and how effective customer resistance might be.

The defense program, born of the Korean War, inspired the steel industry to build up facilities to a point where 15 per cent could be marked as reserve for military use if need arose. With military demand now below its former peak, civilian demand has picked up unexpectedly to the point where the industry as a whole is operating at almost full capacity. Some companies are parcelling out certain steel products to their customers. The reserve capacity has disappeared, for the time at least.

Top steel companies have said another round of expansion must be planned. In their talks today steelmen can try to judge how much more the civilian economy is likely to grow and how much

The Grow and Glow Junior Garden Club held a regular meeting in the Salt Creek school cafeteria with 20 members and two leaders present. Mrs. Lawrence Grissom was a guest.

The club members planted a tree in Pickaway County Fairgrounds as part of a community project.

Rural Life Sunday was observed by the group with services in Pleasant View church. A violin solo was given by Sharon Sharrett, accompanied by Nancy Wilson on the piano, during the program.

During the meeting, Janet Grissom led a discussion of the contribution to a portrait of Dr. Graham, which is to be hung in the Junior Building at the Ohio State Fairgrounds.

Evelyn Van Fossen was named as health representative for the club in a 4-H health contest to be held July 8.

Bonnie Dudson, Linda Hunt, Sharon Sharrett and Janice Umsted were named as a refreshment committee for the next meeting.

The Buckeye Bakes and Stitches met in the school building for an evening meeting, conducted by president Betty Eitel. The 4-H pledge was led by Margaret Reid. Roll call was answered by 16 members.

Following officer reports, the first year members worked on their sewing projects. The cooking club members exhibited the cookies they had baked at home. Members of the sewing group voted to buy a sewing machine for the use of members at their meetings.

The group observed Rural Life Sunday by attending services in the Darbyville Methodist church.

Marilyn Dudson and Mary Ellen Downs were appointed to demonstrate how to make a cake at the next meeting, to be held in the school.

more steel it will be likely to demand in the years ahead.

Wages, prices and expansion may be the steelmen's present headaches. But they come at a time of unprecedented prosperity for the industry.

Their institute estimates that production this week will run just a mite under the record tonnage of 2,345,000 turned out in the week of May 9.

The steelmen, if they compare notes on their advance order books, will find that most of these are well filled through the third quarter. And prospects for the rest of the year are bright.

The Wayne Township 4-H club met in the Westfall school to choose projects for the year. A discussion was held on the purchase of 4-H club emblem jackets. Gary Dean gave a report on hog diseases.

An outdoor softball game was played during the recreation period.

The third meeting of the Washington Hill Climbers was held in the home of Jerry Leist with 12 members present. The club attended church as a group on Rural Life Sunday.

The next meeting will begin with a tour starting at the home of Robert Johnson and ending with the project of Betty Leist. Starting time will be at 6:45 p. m. on June 2.

The fourth meeting of Buttons and Bows 4-H Club was held in the home of Rose Burris with 11 members and two visitors. The club attended St. Paul's Evangelical Church on Rural Life Sunday.

'Panty Raid' In Reverse Staged By Denver Girls

DENVER (AP)—Eight police cars averted what officers said appeared to be a panty raid in reverse on the Regis College campus Tuesday night.

The Rev. Francis Malecek, dean of men at the all-male Denver school, said a horde of girls swarmed on the campus, singing, yelling and screaming around the dormitories and classrooms.

The girls were believed to be from Loretto Heights College, an all-girl school here, one officer said.

The Rev. Mr. Malecek said he and other faculty members asked the girls to leave the campus. When they refused, he called police.

The girls fled when the first police cruisers arrived.

PLAGUE OF "ECONOMISTS"

THIS COUNTRY currently could do with fewer "economists," a type that has become a plague and an affliction. Their voices today are raised in alarms, laments and general all around hell-raising. Usually graduated from some obscure college, the average "economist" of the type now making the headlines daily upon graduation got himself attached to a government payroll and has lived off the taxpayers by some means or other ever since.

This hombre knows as much about business, or anything else, as a hog has use for a kimona. If he wasn't born a crackpot, he achieved crackpotism by his own taxpayer-subsidized efforts. He "knows" wages should go up and prices down. The law of gravity is a myth, and hooray for Russia.

Daily the tribe of screwballs is issuing dire warnings that the country cannot go on. There must be a bust. The crisis is here. The crackup is upon the nation. Congress isn't doing its duty.

As in the case of Russia, which was built up into a first-class world menace by the cash of the American taxpayers, this menace of "economists" on the home front was created by the same means. Had not most of them been attached to the public payroll at some time or another few would pay attention to their screwball opinions. They are the most powerful argument for drastic government economy. Had Congress not provided more money for the executive department in the past than it could spend sanely, these birds would never have been on the federal payroll.

ETERNAL VIGILANCE

AFTER SPENDING several days in Washington, D. C., Roy Roberts, publisher of the Kansas City Star, appraises peace prospects as hopeful and adds:

"In Washington folks are either up in the skies or down in the depths. It's a poor place to get an accurate, unexaggerated picture. They deal too much in superlatives. But you come away feeling very definitely that the chances for peace are on the upgrade. And just a few months ago it looked like more war was almost certain."

Communism isn't a nation to be hemmed in and defeated with finality. It's an infiltration, a spreading poison, a shifting force which, shoved down at one point, bobs up at another. It will be defeated ultimately when the conscience of the world becomes fully cognizant of its dreadful implications.

Emotions in Washington vary according to day-by-day circumstances. One day consensus of Washington opinion is that things haven't looked so rosy for years. On other days the horrible thought intrudes that the communists may be most menacing when they seem to be most tractable.

Reds do not put all their plans down in black and white, but on the record they have expressed an unalterable purpose to woo the free nations into complacency and then pounce upon them.

Thus the West continues the policy of talking with the reds whenever they are willing in an effort to penetrate their thinking, while never letting its guard down. To be unwary would be fatal to the survival of freedom.

Manhattan Has A Magic

NEW YORK (AP)—What is the magic of Manhattan?

Cynics have been predicting for some time that the flight to the suburbs would eventually turn this heart island of New York City into a ghost town on the Hudson, the world's largest pigeon roost. Some people, perhaps, rather hoped this would happen.

But what has really happened? No grass is growing in Wall Street yet. In the last 10 years some 21 million square feet of office space has been built or is planned in the midtown area. Luxurious new apartment buildings are still springing up like dandelions. The United Nations has lifted a towering new home of glass-enclosed hope for the future.

Commenting on this spectacular postwar growth, a real estate dealer the other day said, rather wonderingly, there seems

George E. Sokolsky's These Days

LONDON —The Britishers I have talked to already, party leaders, business men, officials, take it that Americans are obsessed on the subject of Communism. They feel that we make too much of the subject. They say that they have had their troubles with their own Communists longer than we have.

The Communist Party is open in Great Britain and some 17 candidates are running for Parliament. It is expected that none will be elected. Only two labor unions are Communist dominated; the electrical workers union is the largest and most important. It is taken for granted that there is a Communist infiltration of their unions and the present scourge of wildcat strikes is attributed to Communist agitation in the unions.

There is fear of a dockers' strike, due to this cause, which could be very damaging to the British economy. Nevertheless, the general attitude is that it is not worth the effort to do much about the British Communists. When I speak of Dr. Klaus Fuchs, or Burgess and MacLean, I get the answer that there will be a wormy apple here and there and that Scotland Yard is an efficient organization in which everybody has confidence.

The trade union people say that they can handle any situation involving a "closed" Communist, by which I take it that they mean one who has gone underground and plans to achieve a measure of success by infiltration. They also have great faith in what they call "British character." Nevertheless, they do have strikes, for no better than agitational reason, at a period of full employment and good wages for here.

The principal infiltration of Communists is in the trade unions and in some universities. It is not very seriously taken. The trade unions feel that when a Communist shows his hand they will be able to throw him out. If he does not show his hand, what good is he to the Communists? The intellectuals who tend toward Marxism are looked upon as intellectuals who wander into the Garden of Eden without much of a compass.

I have not discovered whether there is much infiltration in radio or the newspapers. Radio or television is not anything like what we have in the United States because, being government owned, it is very closely controlled. An independent commercial television company is about to come into existence. Generally speaking these media of communications take on the official attitude of the government, although ample time is given to the opposition.

The division of time seems to be very fair. The attitude toward Russia and Red China is very different from ours. The British do not like the Russians and much less the Red Chinese. Nevertheless, they say that these countries exist. They are upon the earth. They have large populations. It is impossible not to deal with them.

Chiang Kai-shek is unpopular here, not because they have anything against Chiang personally but because he complicates the entire Asiatic problem from a British point of view. They feel that the Kuomintang has had its day.

CHAPTER TWENTY-TWO

TRACE FELLOWS was looking at Kay Ireland. I shall love her all my life; but a doctor, who's a doctor 24 hours a day wouldn't have much time left to be a husband.

But with an honesty of mind that was characteristic, he knew he was sidestepping the real reason for Kay's refusal to marry him. Kay believed that love was never the same way twice, and he had been unable to persuade her that if she continued giving him a little love and a lot of affection, they could have a happy relationship. They had gone over it lengthily, logically, and all their talk resolved itself into Kay's firm, kind, final no.

Trace glanced around. Seeing Landon beside Eric, his thoughts immediately jumped to Maggie. Not responding satisfactorily to artificial pneumothorax, according to the chief at Breck. Surgery might be indicated to collapse the diseased lung permanently. He must make it clear, very clear to Eric that the mortality rate of thoracoplastic surgery was now practically non-existent. He must make it clear to Landon, too. In the event of an operation, Eric and Landon would be able to help each other through an undoubtedly rugged time of anxiety.

Trace rubbed his chin thoughtfully. Something in the casual thought-linking of those two started him. It's that gossip, he thought. Nothing to it, of course. It'll be scotched when Maggie gets well and comes home. Then Landon will marry Scott Wylie and everything will be hunkey-dorey. That settled, Trace closed his eyes. After spending three-quarters of the night at the hospital, he figured he had earned a nap.

An usher tapped him on the shoulder. Trace jumped awake. I don't even have time to get religion! The young doctor held his shoulders very straight as he left the church. It was a good life. The best. In time, when the echoes of that might have been had grown dimmer, he'd forget that it might have been an immeasurably better life with Kay Ireland.

Scott Wylie sat alone in the middle of a row, his eyes full of nothing but Landon—her slender figure in the gray squirrel jacket, her little gray hat and her hair curling up over the rim like a halo. He remembered the first time he had seen her, chesscloth vestments and a water-pistol! Scott's hands clenched together.

He loved Landon so much that she was an ache in his heart. Last night when she had said, "Yes, Scott," and kissed him, he had felt the whole earth turning under his feet. She had said yes. She was wearing his ring. Under her glove, Landon McCrae was wearing his ring.

He let her hand go and stared at the mark on her wrist. "I think I have known it almost as long as I can remember."

chestra or building skyscrapers. It is the modern mecca of the writer, salesman, artist, businessman, chef, boxer, scholar and the con man. Whatever you can do, here is your market and your audience.

Manhattan is less lovely than Paris, less livable than London, less casually friendly than any major American metropolis. But it holds more grandeur than ancient Rome, and is gradually attaining some of the glory of old Greece.

There are a thousand accents in Manhattan, but the main accent is on youth. Youth isn't served here, but it has a chance to sell here anything it can dish up that has a new quality or a fresh excitement.

That is the real magic in Manhattan, a city that eternally renews itself by feeding on young dreams: anything is possible here, whatever you look for you have a feeling you may find it.

The sermon ended. There was a slight pause, a rustling, and then music filled the church and the soft voices of the choir. Landon took off her gloves. After all, why was she wearing Scott's ring if not to let it be seen? Her heart ached, suddenly. She felt strained with emotion, scarcely understanding herself; her strange new self engaged to marry Scott Wylie.

They were driving to Chester-ville. Landon sat beside Scott, listening to the soft hum of the motor, touching her ring now and then as if from it might miraculously spring the courage she needed for the ordeal of meeting Scott's parents. But no genie appeared.

The countryside had never looked so bleak and barren and cold; the bare willow branches, last year's weeds poking up stiffly through the snow, a narrow twisting frozen stream under a small bridge they crossed rockingly.

Landon turned her face, but at the radiant flash of Scott's smile she looked hurriedly away. A windy gust whirled powdery snow across the flat highway, and for a few seconds everything ahead was blotted out.

Landon huddled back. She suddenly knew that she could not go through with this. It was wrong to cheat Scott. This code of integrity you lived by made you the person you were. If you broke it, you were never the same person again. You changed inside. And Scott would know. Not today, perhaps, or tomorrow, but some day he would look directly at her, and see her whole secret cheating heart.

She smoothed her gloves on her lap and drew a long breath. "Scott," she said. "I have to talk to you."

He slanted a smile at her. "I'm all ears."

She clenched her hands together. "Scott, I have to tell you. I am not in love with you. I—I think you'd better pull off the road."

The car rounded a curve, missed the ditch and slewed to a stop. Scott cut the motor. The sudden silence was thick and strangling. She twisted her hands together. "I—I am in love with someone else," she whispered. "I—I thought I could pretend with you, but I find I can't. I can't. . . Try to forgive me, will you, please?"

He circled her wrist with his hand, hard. "It's Eric," he said. "It's Eric, isn't it?"

Thick as her misery was, a faint note of wonder penetrated it. "You knew. How did you know?" But of course if others knew, Scott would know.

He let her hand go and stared at the mark on her wrist. "I think I have known it almost as long as I can remember."

Do You Sneeze a Lot?

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

DO you sneeze all year long? Is your nose frequently stuffed up? Does it seem that you've got hay fever the year round?

If this is your trouble, you've probably got perennial rhinitis, an allergy very similar to hay fever. However, the symptoms are milder, and you suffer during all 12 months instead of just in the summer and fall.

Many Causes

If you've got perennial rhinitis, you may be sensitive to a variety of things: house dust; dander from cats, dogs and other animals; certain foods; pollens from plants.

Again, the source of the trouble may be found in your job. Frequently, vapors and dusts in various manufacturing plants are responsible for this allergy.

While sneezing may be the only sign of the disease, the nose is usually stuffed up and has a thin watery discharge.

Mary Haworth's Mail

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: About three years ago I married Jake, my second husband, a wonderful person who has filled our lives to overflowing with love and kindness, for which we are so grateful.

However, his magnanimity is such that he won't turn down anybody, no matter how large or small their demands. And some of his charity I can endorse, but other instances outrage me.

For example, we were married only a short time when one of his kin (fed up with his own household) moved in with us, prepared to stay indefinitely. I stood it as long as I could, financially and emotionally, then blew my cork and he departed. He then advertised me as a heel, although I was helping Jake to rally from ill health, financial reverses and an unhappy past.

Recently we learned that Jake was facing a major operation, outcome uncertain; and, simultaneously, his brother and family of small children were planning to move in with us, as the brother's job had folded. I blocked the move and my husband still looks at me unbelievably, as if I weren't quite human. He is only perfunctorily affectionate.

Self - Confidence Lost
Most of Jake's large family and mine have visited us, and his kin take over, asking their friends in to meals, using our facilities and running up bills for us to pay. When I suggested to Jake that they pay these charges he was shocked that I'd even think of such a thing.

Am I so wrong, in not wanting to shoulder other adults' problems? Should I let them come in and overburden us, when we are trying hard to make ends meet?—never going out, and always afraid to spend, except on bills. Am I lacking in charity? I used to be so sure of myself and just where I was headed for. But now I do not know. Please answer soon.

E.S.

Wolf At Door
DEAR E. S.: As I get the picture, Jake is accustomed to having the wolf at his door. Therefore he readily identifies himself with the passing procession of hardship cases who ask his help. Personal knowledge of financial want and insecurity has made him freely charitable—so that he takes no thought for the tomorrow, and concerns himself rather to do such good as he can for others today. Your less compassionate, more self-serving fiscal policies suggest that you are somewhat a stranger

Women's Clubs Lauded By Ike

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—President Eisenhower has commended the General Federation of Women's Clubs for its efforts to increase international good will.

Eisenhower said it is particularly impressive that through their generous contributions for overseas relief, the clubwomen have demonstrated their friendship for women of other nations.

The General Federation, the world's largest organization of women, has 11 million members, half in clubs in this country and the remainder in affiliated clubs in 33 foreign countries.

Recent letters received by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bennington, of 107 Reber Ave., from top commanders of the 8th Infantry Division at Fort Carson, Col., contain much information of interest to the parents of all Pickaway County men in the service.

The communications were sent in special reference to Pvt. Roger E. Bennington, now serving with the division's Battery B, 43rd Field Artillery Battalion. But the pattern of training outlined could apply to most of the big military bases.

In addition to Bennington, at least two other Circleville men are also training at Fort Carson. They are Kenneth S. Weaver, of 472 E. Ohio St., and Robert O. Rowland, of 601 E. Mound St. Many Ohio men are on the division's roster.

Major General John G. Van Houten, commanding officer of the famed "Golden Arrow" Division, wrote the Benningtons in reference to their son as follows:

"We are aware that the change from civilian to military life is a major one. However, we believe he will derive much personal benefit in addition to fulfilling his required service as a citizen...."

"THE TRAINING here will be stimulating and purposeful, but we will do everything we can to consider his individual needs. Even though he will be quite busy during the training here, he will still miss his family connections. Your letters will be an important adjunct to his readjustment."

"If you should have any serious problems regarding your son, you are invited to write to this command...."

A similar letter was also received from Lt. James F. Bleeker, commander of the artillery unit to which Bennington has been assigned. He explained, in part:

"The young man will receive eight weeks of basic infantry training. This will mean 'early to bed and early to rise' for all."

"Some instruction will be conducted indoors, but the greater part will be field training, leadership, military customs, rifle marksmanship, infantry tactics, character guidance, and other subjects designed not only to qualify them for military service, but to broaden their interests and make them more useful citizens...."

Ohio Senate Sets Vote On School Subsidy

Passage Said Assured
To Create New Plan
For Handout Of Funds

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio Legislature's logjam barring the path to final adjournment a month hence will be broken today by Senate acceptance of a new state subsidy program for schools.

Senate passage of the big measure, estimated to require the spending of $279 million in state money in the next two years, was assured yesterday.

Senate Republicans, in an hour-long caucus, committed 16 votes to the controversial school measure. That is just one vote short of the number needed to pass a bill in the Senate. But Democratic leaders estimated about six of the 12-member minority will vote for the measure and assure it a five-vote margin of victory.

Senate approval will send the big school bill to an apparently receptive House.

The school subsidy formula change embodied in the big school bill is the principal product of a 16-month study of the State's School Survey Committee into Ohio's school-finance problems.

THE PRESENT subsidy formula bases distribution of state funds on the individual child. The proposed formula changes the basis to a teacher-classroom unit of no more than 30 pupils.

While the House works on the Senate-approved school bill, the Senate will direct its main effort to consideration of the House-approved $934 million budget measure. These are the two big "must" measures barring the path to a June 25 target date for final adjournment.

The "break" on the school bill came as the Ohio House started a $150 million bond issue for mental hospitals and other state buildings on its way to a vote of the people next November.

The proposal, in the form of a constitutional amendment, must be approved by three-fifths of the Senate before it is placed on the ballot. It was approved by the House, 109-24.

Rep. John J. Chester Jr. (R-Franklin), sponsor of the proposal, said money from the bonds would be used for state hospitals, prisons, universities, office buildings and public schools in poorer districts.

If the Senate and the voters approve the financing plan for new buildings, the Legislature automatically would return to Columbus next January to figure out the new taxes necessary to pay off the bonds.

Roundtown Retrospect

By Mac Noggle

Pickaway County natives have always contended that our Scioto Valley is the garden spot of the world and from many of our newcomers, we learn that they, too, are beginning to think the same way.

We are not in a position to argue the point. Born a Pickaway Countian, still one and having no desire to be anything else—you could be a little biased, don't you think?

Examine the records of the men of science, read the history of this region as written by the best historians—all of these disclose that we have always had something which drew people to settle here. The monuments left by the early mound-building Indians reveal that this valley was heavily populated for centuries and centuries. Later, great numbers of the historic Indian called it their home, and probably would have remained had not they been driven or wiped out by the land-grabbing whites.

The land was rich—mostly treeless and easily planted. It produced bounteous crops. The streams were many—the water pure and potable. Game and fish of all kinds were plentiful. Salt—a necessity of life—was nearby at the salt springs at Jackson.

FLINT FOR tools and weapons was easily obtained in the great flint quarries on Flint Ridge in Licking and Muskingum counties.

While glacial boulders of granite could be picked up in all of the stream beds from which many of their implements were ground to shape. Many streams were navigable for easy travel to distant points.

Yes—the Indian had his version of the Garden of Eden and we suspect its locale was in Ohio country. You know it is quite inspiring to read some of the articles in Circleville's early newspapers and learn how happy the people were and how thankful they appeared to be for what they had. And, too, to find out how little they cared what outsiders thought of Roundtown.

It is really amusing, to read some of the reprints from outside papers about the experiences of some of the visitors among a people who could take a little hardship or inconvenience without grumbling. It appears that in the 1850's, the ditch or moat, as it was called in those days, which surrounded the town, still held some water, and in these pools mosquitoes bred and the town was afflicted with a type of malaria, which was called ague.

At the time, no one knew the cause, and huge quantities of quinine were consumed. We believe the prize-winning lament of a disgusted victim was a poem which appeared in a Cleveland newspaper on January 18, 1858. "A new correspondent, and a facile rhythmist, sends us — 'THE CITY OF THE AGUE', which he thus explains: 'The town of Circleville, Ohio, is one of the worst places in the world for the fever-and-the-ague. The writer having taken a chill while passing through the place, some three years since, and not having been able as yet to 'shake himself clear of it entirely', perpetrated the following.

"By a route obscure and lonely, travelled now by stages only, stands a city dark and dreary, where the traveller, tired and weary, is met by people pale and hollow, with voices gruff, and course, and hollow, and their eyes look wild and sunken, and they act like people drunk. Here at night, or noon, or morning, without a moment's warning, that horrid thing will take you, and will shake you, yes 'twill shake you.

"SHAKE WITH IT once, you'll shake forever, you'll stop shaking never, never! It shakes the tops from off the houses, shakes the men from out their trousers, shakes the hoops from off the ladies, shakes the gee-gaws off the babies, shakes whate'er it takes a notion, and it's ever after kept in motion: shaking once 'twill shake forever, 'twill stop shaking, never, never.

"In this city dark and lonely, 'mong these people lank and bony, half are doctors; yes, by thunder! There are doctors without number; but yet there's room for others, for if each doctor had ten brothers, and each brother had ten cousins, and each cousin had their by dozens, and all were doctors stout and healthy, every one would soon get wealthy; for there's work enough for all folks, small ones, large ones, and tall folks, all take turns and hold each other, father, mother, sister and brother, hold each other while they're shaking, shaking out quinine they've been taking, and they'll shake forever after, to the land of the hereafter.

"In this valley dark and lonely, haunted by this demon only, the soil is rich and mellow, where these people, pale and hollow, plant their corn when it is seed-time; eat their quinine when it's feed-time; eat it for breakfast, supper and dinner, and they keep growing thinner and thinner, till their bones come through their body, till 'twont hold their whiskey-toddy, then it is they're gone forever, yes forever! ever, ever! "Once there was, and always should be, (if I had my way there would be,) a spot where all these shakers met in a place of several acres, more or less, I know not how much, but yet I know there was such a place, where every morning, as the bell sent forth its warning, in the circle all'd assemble, there to tremble, tremble; in they'd flock, like sheep to slaughter, from across Scioto's water; o'er this route so dark and dreary, came these people, tired and weary, fathers, mothers, sisters, and cousins, came in squads of tens and dozens, came a-flocking in together, both in fine and stormy weather, here to shake forever after, to the land of the hereafter. "Where is this place so dark and lonely, haunted by the AGUE only, where the people stout and hearty, of every politics and party, as soon as they reach its border feel their system out of order, feel a something o'er them crawling, to their senses most appalling? "Wandering pilgrim, cease to wander down yonder, yonder, yonder, for this route, obscure and lonely, travelled now by stages only, draw folks on as if by suction, draws them on to sure destruction. Stay from off this route, I beg you, which leads to the City of the Ague, Circleville the people call it since the ague did befall it, which has been forever, and ever, and 'twill leave it never, never, and I warn you, and I beg you, shun this City of the Ague." Somehow, this outburst reminds us of an age-old quotation—"Envy has no other quality but that of detracting from virtue—it is like a fly passes all a body's sounder parts, and dwells upon the sores".

Ohio Senate Sets Vote On School Subsidy

Passage Said Assured
To Create New Plan
For Handout Of Funds

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio Legislature's logjam barring the path to final adjournment a month hence will be broken today by Senate acceptance of a new state subsidy program for schools.

Senate passage of the big measure, estimated to require the spending of $279 million in state money in the next two years, was assured yesterday.

Senate Republicans, in an hour-long caucus, committed 16 votes to the controversial school measure. That is just one vote short of the number needed to pass a bill in the Senate. But Democratic leaders estimated about six of the 12-member minority will vote for the measure and assure it a five-vote margin of victory.

Senate approval will send the big school bill to an apparently receptive House.

The school subsidy formula change embodied in the big school bill is the principal product of a 16-month study of the State's School Survey Committee into Ohio's school-finance problems.

THE PRESENT subsidy formula bases distribution of state funds on the individual child. The proposed formula changes the basis to a teacher-classroom unit of no more than 30 pupils.

While the House works on the Senate-approved school bill, the Senate will direct its main effort to consideration of the House-approved $934 million budget measure. These are the two big "must" measures barring the path to a June 25 target date for final adjournment.

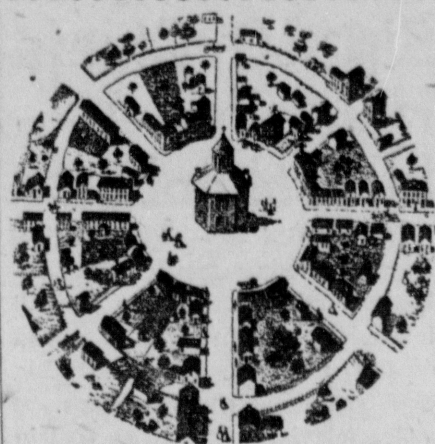

The "break" on the school bill came as the Ohio House started a $150 million bond issue for mental hospitals and other state buildings on its way to a vote of the people next November.

The proposal, in the form of a constitutional amendment, must be approved by three-fifths of the Senate before it is placed on the ballot. It was approved by the House, 109-24.

Rep. John J. Chester Jr. (R-Franklin), sponsor of the proposal, said money from the bonds would be used for state hospitals, prisons, universities, office buildings and public schools in poorer districts.

If the Senate and the voters approve the financing plan for new buildings, the Legislature automatically would return to Columbus next January to figure out the new taxes necessary to pay off the bonds.

The Senate refused to accept a House amendment to a harness racing bill designed to give half-mile tracks permission to hold 44-day meetings. The House change altered a single word, "date" to "day." Sources familiar with racing operations said the change, because of a racing commission interpretation, would have eliminated night harness racing in the vicinity of running horse tracks.

Lopes Scores Upset Over Sandy Saddler

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Light-weight Joey Lopes likes the featherweight champions. The 24-year-old West Sacramentan already has licked two of them.

Lopes had it all his own way last night as he pounded out a unanimous 10-round non-title decision over featherweight king Sandy Saddler. Time after time, the young Portuguese-American beat the champ to the punch, landing clean and effective blows.

Lopes, the 10th ranking lightweight, weighed 133 1/4, Saddler, 130 1/2.

The local favorite had Saddler in trouble in the second and ninth rounds. But the experienced champion managed to tie up Lopes after being hit with looping rights and a stinging left jab.

Lopes, who lost a Madison Square Garden fight last March to featherweight Carmelo Costa, scored a second round technical knockout here last February over Percy Bassett, who held the featherweight crown while Saddler was in the Army.

Saddler, 28, was gunning for his 100th knockout in 156 fights. The best he could do was to cut Lopes' right eye. It will keep Lopes out of action for about a month, his handlers said.

Holy Cross Star Named Cage Pilot

BOSTON (AP)—Former Holy Cross star Joe Mullaney was named head basketball coach at Providence College last night.

Mullaney, 31, was the outstanding Holy Cross team of 1947. After a year with the Boston Celtics of the NBA Mullaney turned to coaching.

Lopes Scores Upset Over Sandy Saddler

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Lightweight Joey Lopes likes the featherweight champions. The 24-year-old West Sacramentan already has licked two of them.

Lopes had it all his own way last night as he pounded out a unanimous 10-round non-title decision over featherweight king
Sandy Saddler. Time after time, the young Portuguese-American beat the champ to the punch, landing clean and effective blows.

Lopes, the 10th ranking lightweight, weighed 133 1/4, Saddler,

CHS Beats Hillsboro in SCOL Tilt To Gain 3-Way Tie For Second

Circleville High School accomplished two purposes in their 5 to 4 win over Hillsboro here Tuesday afternoon.

First, they knocked Hillsboro out of a first place tie with Washington C. H. in the South Central Ohio League. Second, the victory boosted CHS into a three-way tie for second place.

This is the third straight year that Coach Dick Boyd's baseballers have gained second place in the SCOL.

Hillsboro actually had the game won. Leading 4 to 3 in the seventh, the visitors were feeling confident.

HOWEVER, with one out, Jim McInn then singled to center; Tom Krinn then ran for him. Long Walt Sieverts next smashed a long double over the left fielder's head to score Krinn and knot the score.

In the bottom of the eighth, after Hillsboro failed to score in the extra frame, CHS came through. With two gone and Dick Banks on third, a signal was flashed and Banks stole home with the winning run.

Jim Callihan struck out eight for CHS; he walked only two. His record for the season is 3-2.

This was CHS's final spring game. They play here June 4 when Columbus St. Charles visits for a Central Ohio School Summer League doubleheader.

Football Browns Set Up Schedule

CLIFVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Browns, champions of the National Football League, have completed a schedule of six exhibition games for 1955.

The club will make its first appearance in the annual game against the College All-Stars Aug. 12 in Chicago.

After a contest with Green Bay in the Akron Rubber Bowl on the night of Aug. 20, the Browns will play at San Francisco Aug. 28 and at Los Angeles Sept. 2.

On Sept. 10, they play a night home game with the Detroit Lions. On the night of Sept. 15, they play the Chicago Bears in Chicago in a benefit game.

Baseball Tryouts Postponed 1 Day

Little League tryouts have been postponed from Thursday to Friday.

The new schedule is: ages 8, 9 and 10—at 3 p. m. and ages 11 and 12—at 5 p. m.

The move is being made because the Circleville School Safety Patrol is going to a baseball game in Columbus Thursday evening. Many boys would probably miss the tryouts because of this.

Chisox Star Says His Old Glasses OK

CLEVELAND (AP)—Bob Nieman's optometrist says the Chicago White Sox outfielder needs a change of glasses. But after last night's game against the Cleveland Indians, who can blame him for sticking with the old ones?

Nieman broke up a potential no-hitter for fireballer Herb Score in the seventh inning with a single, scored the first run of the ball game in that same frame and clouted a two-run homer in the eighth as Chicago won, 4-1.

"Now, I guess I'll leave well enough alone and keep these glasses on," he grinned when the game was over and Chicago was within a half game of the second place Cleveland.

The husky outfielder said he first started using glasses on the field during night games last season while he was with the Detroit Tigers. He moved to Chicago last winter in a trade deal.

Nieman shared the White Sox hitting laurels with Vern Stephens and Sherm Lollar, whose singles scored him in the seventh; Chico Carrasquel, who led off the eighth with a homer; and John Groth, who doubled and scored on Nieman's homer.

Ralph Kiner homered in the seventh to temporarily tie the score at 1-1.

Most of the game was a pitcher's duel between Score and Billy Pierce, who held the Indians to three hits.

Baseball Tryouts Postponed 1 Day

Little League tryouts have been postponed from Thursday to Friday.

The new schedule is: ages 8, 9 and 10—at 3 p. m. and ages 11 and 12—at 5 p. m.

The move is being made because the Circleville School Safety Patrol is going to a baseball game in Columbus Thursday evening. Many boys would probably miss the tryouts because of this.

Chisox Star Says His Old Glasses OK

CLEVELAND (P)—Bob Nieman's optometrist says the Chicago White Sox outfielder needs a change of glasses. But after last night's game against the Cleveland Indians, who can blame him for sticking with the old ones?

Nieman broke up a potential no-hitter for fireballer Herb Score in the seventh inning with a single, scored the first run of the ball game in that same frame and clouted a two-run homer in the eighth as Chicago won, 4-1.

"Now, I guess I'll leave well enough alone and keep these glasses on," he grinned when the game was over and Chicago was within a half game of the second place Cleveland.

The husky outfielder said he first started using glasses on the field during night games last season while he was with the Detroit Tigers. He moved to Chicago last winter in a trade deal.

Nieman shared the White Sox hitting laurels with Vern Stephens and Sherm Lollar, whose singles scored him in the seventh; Chico Carrasquel, who led off the eighth with a homer; and John Groth, who doubled and scored on Nieman's homer.

Ralph Kiner homered in the seventh to temporarily tie the score at 1-1.

Most of the game was a pitcher's duel between Score and Billy Pierce, who held the Indians to three hits.

Plans Clicking Into Place For Gala 1955 County Fair

Event Will Include 3 Nights Of Harness Racing;
New Junior Board To Supervise 'Youth Day'

The Pickaway County Agricultural Society revealed today how plans are moving into place for the 1955 county fair, which will have among its features three nights of harness racing and a special "Youth Day".

Arrangements for the three-night racing program will be especially good news for thousands of sulky fans throughout the district. And the "Youth Day" plans, to be handled by a Junior Fair Board, will mark a major milestone in the administration of the giant annual event at the Fairgrounds.

Henry L. Reid Jr., secretary of the fair board, outlined the status of plans. This year's fair will be held for four days starting Sept. 14. Harness races are planned on the last three nights of the fair. Three races will be staged each night, with purses set at $400 per race.

"YOUTH DAY" will be a Friday, next to last day of the fair. Arrangements for it will be turned over to a Junior Fair Board which is now being selected from the boys and girls of Pickaway County. Planning for this new feature is currently being supervised by Pickaway County Farm Agent Dick Swenson and George McDowell, superintendent of county schools.

"It is my understanding that all county schools will be dismissed in order that all children may participate in this great Youth Day event," Reid said. "To my knowledge, this is the first year that the county schools will be closed in observance of the county fair."

"We greatly appreciate the co-

Texas Vets Land Chief Is Indicted Anew

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Bascom Giles, father of Texas' $100 million veterans land program, today faced five new indictments growing out of his administration. They allege theft by fraud involving $33,600.

Giles' trial in a bribery charge involving $30,000 in a Bexar County veterans land deal has been postponed.

He faces a third group of indictments, charging conspiracy to commit theft of $83,500 in a Dimmit County deal.

The new charges involve a block land deal in Kinney County. In block deals, a promoter buys a large tract of land, breaks it up into small tracts, signs up veterans to buy it, then receives from the state the total amount of money the veterans agreed to pay.

Indicted along with Giles was B. F. Sheffield, Brady land promoter. In addition, Sheffield was indicted for forgery and passing a forged document in the same deal.

Giles, 54, refused last Jan. 1 to take office although re-elected to his 10th term. Veterans land investigations were underway then.

Under Texas' land program, veterans can buy acreage with low down payment and long-term low interest rates.

Texas First Lady Suffers Mumps

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Mrs. Allan Shivers, wife of Texas' governor, is confined to the governor's mansion with the mumps.

The Shivers family began its bout with the disease three weeks ago when Marialice Sue (Cissy) Shivers, 8, contracted it.

Neither the governor nor the three Shivers sons have had the mumps, a mansion spokesman said, but the governor was confined Tuesday with what doctors said was a "light case of influenza."

Shivers was expected back in his office today.

operation of the school boards throughout the county in making such a plan possible.

The fair board has made arrangements with the Gooding Amusement Company for all rides at the fair this year. The company has become widely known here through its role in the annual Pumpkin Show.

"We feel this is a definite improvement," Reid said, "because the Gooding Company is the largest operator of rides in the state, and possibly in the country."

Big evening feature on the opening night of the fair will again be the music festival for high school bands. The festival, started two years ago, has proven highly popular with the crowds. Fifteen schools have already been invited to participate this year.

This year's tractor-pull contest will be under the supervision of Forrest Brown.

BOOKINGS for the midway entertainment are being handled by the Circleville Junior Chamber of Commerce. Reid said he has been told by the Jaycees that the interest shown in the fair by the concessionaires so far this year is already reflected by a record number of applications.

All premium awards for the various departments of the fair have been maintained at the same level as those of last year.

Anyone seeking additional information on the 1955 fair should contact Charles Rose, of Williamsport, president of the fair board, or the board's secretary. Letters to the fair board should be addressed to Post Office Box 377, Circleville.

Man Phones Wife, Then Shoots Self

WEYMOUTH, Mass. (AP)—Joseph Guidi, 42, an electrical engineer, telephoned his wife in Bangor, Maine, Tuesday and advised her: "Listen very carefully."

Mrs. Anna Guidi, 38, said that those words were followed by a shot, and then silence.

She telephoned Weymouth police, who went to the Guidi home and found the husband dead of a bullet wound in the head.

Mrs. Guidi and her four children were visiting friends near Bangor.

Arrest Charges Ruled Too Severe

OMAHA (AP)—Edward E. Kopfle 23, ran his car into a ditch on a country road and started walking for help. He had hooped it a mile when deputy sheriffs seeking the owner of the wrecked car, spotted by them on their rounds, caught up.

They handed Kopfle a ticket including a charge of leaving the scene of a property damage accident. But Capt. R. H. Walter said that was going too far and scratched the count. He let stand a charge of having no driver's license.

U.S. Farmer Take Continues Drop

WASHINGTON (AP)—Farmers received 5 per cent less for what they sold in the first four months of 1955 than in the corresponding 1954 period, the Agriculture Department reports.

The volume of marketing was about the same as last year. Receipts from livestock and animal products were 8 per cent below a year ago. Most of this decline was attributed to lower prices for hogs.

Crops brought slightly more than the comparable 1954 period, due to increased markets of soy beans and higher vegetable prices.

Michigan Girl, 8, Object Of Search

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP)—Long hours of searching by nearly a thousand persons left no clue today to the whereabouts of 8-year-old Jeannie Singleton.

Darkness last night interrupted the hunt for the pert, brown-eyed second grader, but police said they would continue to comb city streets and neighboring woods.

Little Jeannie, her right leg crippled by rheumatic fever, vanished Monday afternoon on her way home from school. Police fear she may have been abducted.
